

Learn 5G, 4G, and NextGen Technologies from the Team That Helped Usher in the Wireless Revolution!

Whether it's the world's first GSM, CDMA, CDMA2000, or UMTS technology transfer project, first OEM-independent wireless engineering certification, or the first online wireless technology university, the Eogogics founders have led the industry for over 20 years. With 500 courses and instructors that average 15-30 years of experience, Eogogics expertise is unmatched in breadth or depth. Industry recognized, Eogogics is a sole-source or preferred training provider for well-known companies in the US and abroad, federal and state agencies, national labs, research institutions, universities, and trade associations.

Besides 300 courses in telecom, Eogogics offers 200 courses covering soft skills, management and leadership, technical and project management, engineering, IT, security and public safety. All courses can be customized to your team's needs and taught onsite at your offices or, in some cases, in our web-based virtual classroom, WebLive™ (see www.eogogics.com/web-live). Eogogics also offers sporadic public classes (see www.eogogics.com/classes) and a growing collection of e-learning courses (www.eogogics.com/now-web) and industry research reports (www.eogogics.com/publications).
